LEGISLATIVE CAOS.

Occurrences and opinions concerning Members of the Senate and House. The State House wears a desolate air.

Senators Dawson and Smith leave for home to-day. Clerk Scripps takes a day's rest at home, and then resumes work on the journal of the session.

Delegates Leonard, Folkerson, Riley, Thompson, Tippet, Judge Ferguson and wife, and others left on the Andes last evening.

It was an amusing sight to see Harvey Scott, the "Pickwickian page" of the House, boarding the Andes yesterday afternoon, loaded down with a cross-bow and a drum.

Senators Faulkner, Vanmeter, Dennis and Davidson, and Delegates Grantham, Morrow, Moore, Evans, and Doorkeeper Neale of the House left for home via the B. & O. R. last evening.

Col. Jim Morrow, of Fairmont, approached one of the reporters of this paper yesterday and said, "I was not in the raid on the House last night."

A certain committee clerk thought there was entirely too much ink left at the House, and he concluded to take home a jug full. One of the pages saw a little game, and he filled a jug with water and had it hermetically sealed.

Among the members of the Legislature who distinguished themselves during the recent session, Hon. Chas. McDodill, of Webster county, has particularly attracted the notice of careful observers.

Our streets need the scrapers. How long will this weather linger? All quiet in police circles last night.

The Capitol will no longer be a general loading place. This Municipal Court meets this morning pursuant to adjournment on Saturday last.

The exodus of legislators yesterday showed a wonderful anxiety on their part to get home. Recorder Hook issued one marriage license yesterday, and admitted to record one deed in fee.

The Board of Examiners is engaged in arranging the papers in the Clerk's office of the Board of Commissioners for examination.

There will be a meeting of pharmacists at Veteran Hall, McClure House, this evening, for the purpose of taking steps toward the formation of a State Pharmaceutical Association.

Prof. Dalsell, assistant principal of the Lively Institute, is confined in his residence by illness.

Mr. Robt. S. Gardner, of Clarkeburg, Indian Inspector, made this office a pleasant visit yesterday.

James L. Day, clerk in Vance, Hughes & Co., was held in custody yesterday with an attack of typhoid fever, in a convalescent condition.

Ex-Senator Arthur I. Boreman, of Parkersburg, was in the city yesterday, and met many of his friends, who were glad to see him looking so well.

Col. Harry Sellers, agent of the Buffalo Bill party, is in the city, making arrangements for the appearance of the troupe at the Opera House, Tuesday evening next.

Yesterday morning Jeffrey Mills, an Englishman, aged 60 years, fell dead of heart disease at the intersection of Alley F and Fifteenth street, between Seven and Eighteenth streets, East End.

Mr. Mills had been complaining of indigestion, and difficulty in breathing for the past two days, and expected the attack that on yesterday ended his life. He was given to imbibing rather freely of the cup, and for years only did odd jobs of work about the mills, his regular occupation being that of a boiler.

Justice Launder was notified of the case and summoned the following jury: Casper Hill, foreman, Thomas Cox, Otto Hess, James Riley, Abner C. Kraft, Albert Wating, Alex. McGee, McLean, Joseph N. Banks, Joseph Blocker, James Cochran and James Smith.

The jury, after some deliberation, returned a verdict that death resulted from heart disease, brought on by excessive use of liquor.

Mr. Mills lived alone, his wife having died some time ago. No children survive him.

POETRY AND PERIL.

How the Westerns from Dashed Up the Ogleybay Fire—Complete Account of the Night on the Ogleybay.

We remember of reading the lurid description of a fire written by a Western newspaper reporter, in which he drew on his literary skill for many incidents that were not based on the facts, as the configuration in question was nothing more than the incineration of a pile of boards amounting in value to about $100.

But it has remained for a Kansas City reporter to weave into the story of the fire, the incidents of the recent conflagration in that city by which forty citizens were killed and the heaviest sufferers.

We refer to the fire by which Ogleybay & Sons' grocery, and Kelley, Willis & Co.'s hardware establishment, with which Mr. Sealy Jones is connected, were totally destroyed.

The property referred to is taken from the Kansas City letter, and reads as follows: The fire spread with its blistering breath, and in a few moments the grocer's store and the hardware store were in flames.

On Wednesday, the Ogleybay store was destroyed, and the hardware store was also destroyed. The loss of the Ogleybay store was estimated at $100,000.

And yet their fury was not galled. The roaring flames on fire upon fire, and still another store they gutted.

There surged the strong, there rushed the fire, and soon the falling timbers crashed. The wealth of groceries, drugs and oils.

Heretic Ogleybay thus came. The property referred to is taken from the Kansas City letter, and reads as follows: The fire spread with its blistering breath, and in a few moments the grocer's store and the hardware store were in flames.

OLD PROBABILITIES.

Talk at Fourth Street Church. Night on the Ogleybay.

Prof. Tice, of St. Louis, lectured to a large and intelligent audience in the lecture-room of Fourth Street Church last night.

He is a very venerable gentleman and looks to be much of a large proportion of the crowd, whose fall he has predicted, upon his hair and beard, as they are snowy white and give him a most patriarchal appearance.

Prof. Tice said he proposed to discuss an entirely new subject, new as well to the learned as to the unlearned, viz: Meteorology.

This subject had been very handsomely treated by various authors, and the results of their labors are a mass of heterogeneous facts and incongruous matter, but failed to give any tangible information upon the subject and he was compelled to go to the original source for his ideas.

The literal meaning and derivation of the word meteorology were then given by the lecturer at some length, after which he applied or accepted definition was given, in which he showed that its general application was to the phenomena of the atmosphere, as ball, wind, snow, rain, thunder, lightning, etc.

He then explained on account of some mysterious agency formed, not only upon the clouds but also upon the water, and the result was a storm.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

The Senate met at the usual hour yesterday. There was a very absent attendance of Senators, many being absent making their preparations to depart.

At twelve o'clock yesterday the Speaker's gavel fell, and he declared the House of Delegates adjourned until the second Wednesday in January, 1882, at the hour of noon.

Mr. Grantham, the Senior delegate from Jefferson county, both opened and closed the session, in a sense. He it was who made the motion to adjourn, and he it was who offered the earnest prayer at the commencement of the session.

Considerable business was attended to in the very brief duration of the session. Senate Bill No. 116, providing for cases appealed or transmitted from justices, was passed.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 14, in relation to the letting of convict labor in the penitentiary, was adopted, being taken up on motion of Mr. Knapton.

Mr. Knapton was instructed to communicate to the Senate the action of the House in relation to the resolution.

It was then agreed that no vote should be had on any bill during the rest of the session, and on motion a recess was taken till 11 o'clock.

Upon reassembling at that hour, Mr. Leonard introduced a joint resolution providing for the appointment of a joint committee, consisting of three Delegates and two Senators, to wait upon the Governor.
